

COMBINED

design & integration excellence

York Telecom delivers your complete system.

We can design and build your visual communications system to meet and exceed your needs. Our engineers and project managers bring their unparalleled experience to every project, streamlining and simplifying the design & build process. The result is a process that moves more quickly, a design that adapts to your needs, and a system that works more effectively.

Design-Build Strengths:

- Places high priority on project coordination
- Relies on strong manufacturer partnerships
- Combines design & engineering excellence
- Maximizes project management efficiency
- Delivers integration and programming experience
- Provides for long-term service and support
- Increases the value of your system

An emphasis on project coordination.

When working with you to design and install your system, York Telecom collaborates with the project architect & general contractor to ensure a complete circle of communication. With their guidance, we work with the HVAC, electrical, plumbing engineers & contractors to ensure that your system needs are met, such as wiring, conduit, infrastructure, blocking, millwork & furniture.
